

- 3 Application of the drug to the skin is called
(a) Inunction (b) Inhalation
(c) Infection (d) Instillation
- 4 The technique used by listening to sounds in physical examination is known as
(a) Percussion (b) Auscultation
(c) Observation (d) Palpation
- 5 The position maintained while carrying out vaginal examination is
(a) Supine Position (b) Lithotomy Position
(c) Prone Position (d) Trendelenburg Position

V. Write short notes on any FIVE of the following (5x5=25)

- 1) Qualities of the professional Nurse.
- 2) Types of beds and principles of bed making.
- 3) Define fever and write the various types of fever.
- 4) What are the principles to be followed while applying bandages?
- 5) Care of dying patient.
- 6) Personal protective equipments.

VI. Explain in detail any THREE of the following (3x10=30)

- 1) Define Bio medical waste management. Explain its importance, types, hazards, decontamination, segregation, transportation and disposal of hospital waste.
- 2) Write the components, barriers, methods and process of communication.
- 3) Write the nature and types of infection. Explain about chain of infection transmission. Write in detail about hospital acquired (Nosocomial) infection.
- 4) Define bed sore. Mention the common sites, causes and types. Write the preventive measures of bed sore.
